The printed model measures about: 60mm x 40mm x 50mm tall. It used about 2.5 meters of 3mm filament which cost about $1.50. You could certainly make it cost less by hollowing out the model, but that would have been more complicated (we'll look at doing that with OpenSCAD in a future tutorial.) Here's the resulting glow-in-the-dark Greek temple.
